Now, in re-release out of magnum, the structure has fleshed out, transforming that austerity into delicate plummy richness. John Jordan offers library releases of all the vintages back to 1977, highlighting the age-worthy nature of these wines. This 2015 out of magnum will be one of the high points in that timeline. (1.5L)

This wine represents the first time the winery has aged its red in entirely French oak, switching slowly over from American. Notions of clove and vanilla accent sanguine red fruit and savory elements. (750mL)
